Abstract

The abstract should be a concise summary of the paper. Because the abstract may be used in abstracting journals, it should be self-contained (that is, no numerical references) and substantive in nature, presenting concisely the objectives, methodology used, results obtained, and their significance. In other words, the abstract should summarize the content of the paper.

Try to keep the abstract below between 150 and 300 words. It is imperative that the margins and style described below be adhered to carefully. This will enable us to maintain uniformity in the final printed copies of the Journal. Papers not made according these guidelines will not be published although its content has been accepted for publication. Paper form is a necessary condition for its publication, as well as its content

INTRODUCTION

The text must be in English. Authors whose English language is not their own are certainly requested to have their manuscripts checked by an English native speaker, for linguistic correctness before submission and in its final version, if changes had been made to the initial version. The submitted typeset scripts of each contribution must be in their final form and of good appearance because they will be printed directly. The document you are reading is written in the format that should be used in your paper. This document is set in 12-point Times New Roman. If absolutely necessary, we suggest the use of condensed line spacing rather than smaller point sizes. Some technical formatting software print mathematical formulas in italic type, with subscripts and superscripts in a slightly smaller font size as this is acceptable. References should be like this ^[1, 2, 3].

study should appear here as well

Appendix

Appendixes, if needed, appear before the acknowledgment.

Acknowledgments

This unnumbered section is used to identify those who have aided the authors in understanding or accomplishing the work presented and to acknowledge sources of funding. Insert acknowledgment, if any. Use the singular heading even if you have many acknowledgments.

The preferred spelling of the word “acknowledgment” in America is without an “e” after the “g.”
